

WHERE THE JOURNEY BEGINS...

Saint Joseph Preschool January 2019

We come back to school ready to tell all of our preschool friends about time spent with family and friends.

It will be so much fun getting back into the swing of things and learning something new. This month at the zoo we'll learn about the winter weather and how some animals hibernate at this time of year while others adapt so they can survive in different environments.

Some of our classes will also be learning about important concepts such as outer space, transportation, construction work, and dinosaurs.

Registration for next year will begin January 7th. Please be sure to get your forms in as soon as possible and invite your family and friends to join us for our Open House on
